Subject: Draft proposal for protecting wild rice from excess sulfate

Good afternoon,

We wanted to let you know that later today we will be releasing a draft proposal for protecting wild rice from excess sulfate, including a proposed draft approach to the wild rice water quality standard and a draft list of waters where the standard would apply and criteria for adding waters to that list over time as new or additional information becomes available. You will be receiving this information in another e-mail later today. As we know many of you may have questions, we will be available for a conference call this afternoon from 4-4:30 at the conference call-in number below.

Please note that this is just the start of additional discussions and input about the proposal. We will be scheduling meetings with Minnesota Tribes, the Advisory Committee, and EPA in April and May of 2015 to further describe and get input on the proposed approach. We also welcome opportunities to meet with other interested parties about our draft proposal.

We are very interested in getting your input on the draft proposal; to that end we intend to hold an advisory committee meeting in early April in St. Paul. I am attaching a Doodle pool with some potential dates and times below. Please indicate your availability at the following link :
